A large butterfly valve (eighteen inches in diameter), attached to an air flue, was also exhibited. This, likewise, was actuated by the thermal conditions of the room. Upon the boiler plant of the exhibition was placed a large whistle, actuated by this device. It is blown by touching a button in the superintendent s office. Other uses of this invention are included, such as the controlling of refrigerating machinery, steam pumps, elevators, rudders, etc. This instrument was examined in its working and found to be entirely satisfactory. When the electric valve is used to control temperature a thermostat is employed. It consists of a thin long plate of hard rubber, and a similar one of steel, the two lastened together the entire length. The compound plate, thus made, is fixed at one end while the other plays between two contacts which admit of easy setting within a narrow range. With a rise or fall of temperature, the thermostat curls and makes the contact, thus completing the circuit, on one side or the other, and regulates the valve. We found by experiment that the thermostat was quite sensitive and that the claim of the owners that the temperature could be controlled to a quarter of a degree each side of the setting point could probably be realized. We think, however, without having tested it, that the hard rubber plate of the thermostat would not work so well at high or low temperatures,...
